

Closing Remarks

HIBIYA Junko

Vice-President for International Affairs, Science Council of Japan

【Bio】

HIBIYA Junko has been serving as the Vice-President for International Affairs at the Science Council of Japan since October 2023. She is Professor Emerita at International Christian University. She received her Ph.D. in Linguistics at the University of Pennsylvania in 1988. She served as President of the International Christian University from 2012 to 2020. Her areas of expertise are linguistics, sociolinguistics, Japanese language studies, and Japanese language education. Since 2015 she has been a member of the Central Council for Education, a permanent advisory council in the Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology in Japan.