

U.S. Department of Health and Human Services
Centers for Disease
Control and Prevention

EPIDEMIC INTELLIGENCE SERVICE

CDC's Disease Detective Training Program

WE WERE THERE

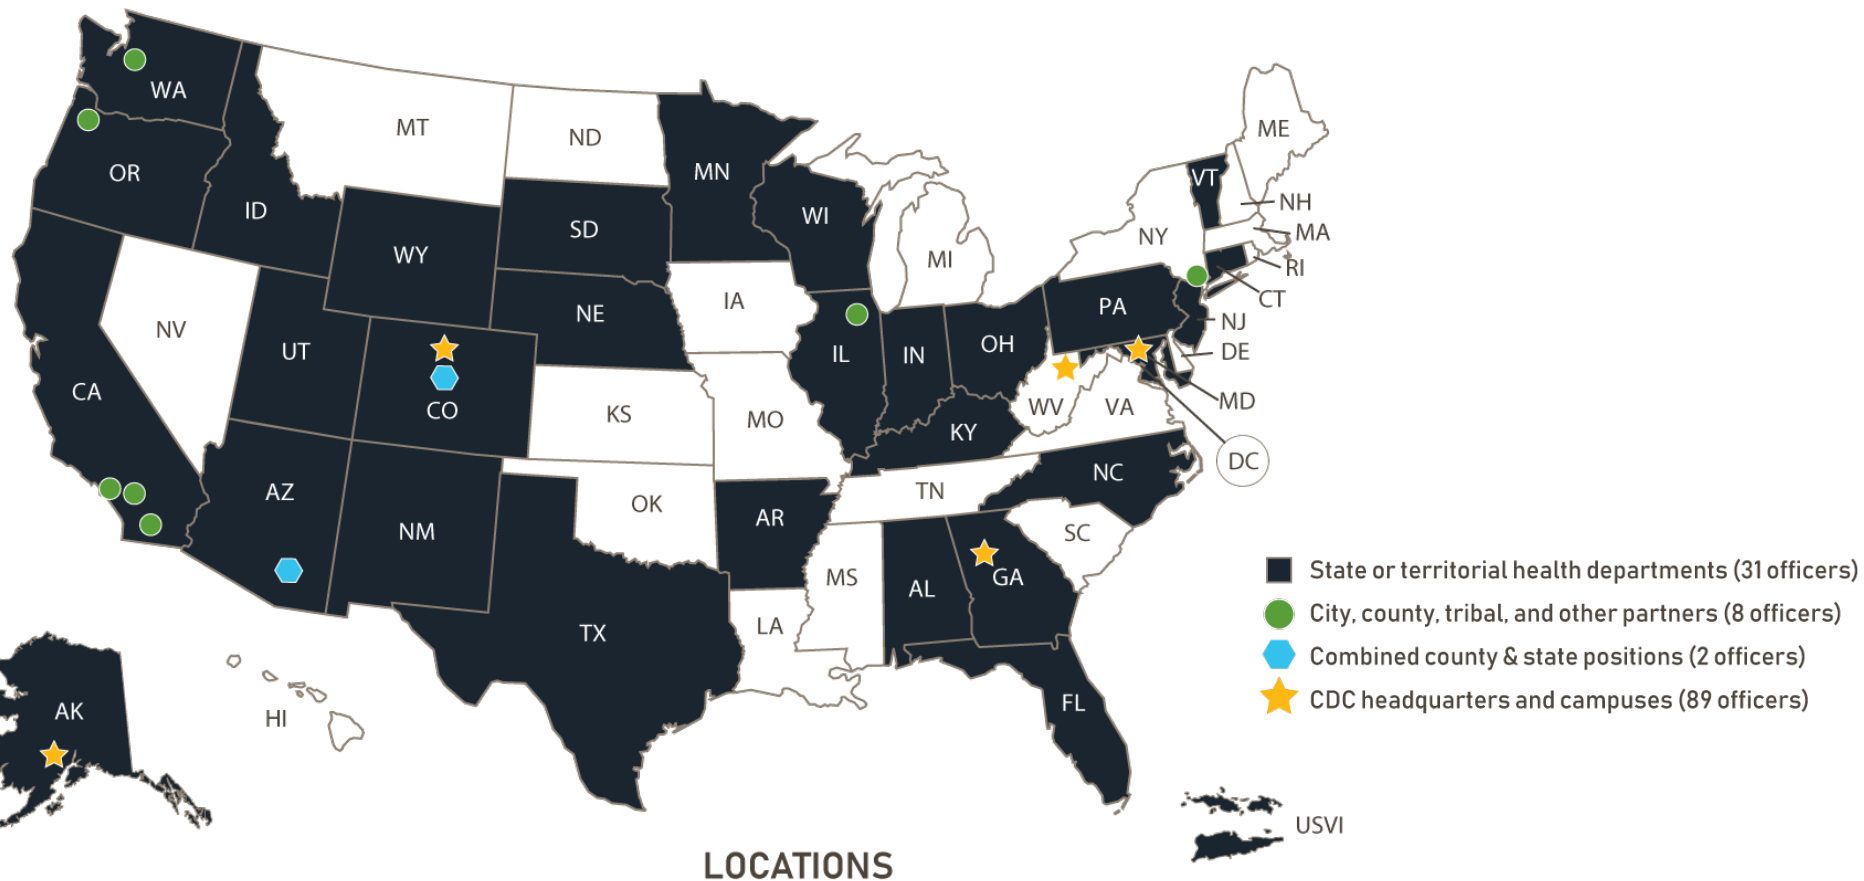

ON THE FRONT LINES

2018 & 2019 EIS CLASSES

EIS OFFICERS ARE...

- Allied healthcare professionals
- Doctoral level scientists (e.g., epidemiologists, microbiologists, psychologists)
- Nurses
- Physicians
- Veterinarians

WHY EIS?

- 2-year training program in applied epidemiology
- Supervised by EIS alumni and subject matter experts
- Unparalleled opportunities

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE IT

- Opportunities to work at CDC and state/local health departments
- Be part of interdisciplinary teams
- Contribute as part of a service and learning program

WHERE COULD EIS TAKE YOU?

More than 95%
of recent EIS graduates continue in public health-related positions

4 of the last 10

CDC Directors are EIS alumni

More than 30%

of State and Territorial Epidemiologists are EIS Alumni

Ready to make a difference?

HOW TO APPLY

cdc.gov/eis

APRIL 8, 2020

Epidemic Intelligence Service

CDC > EIS

EIS

What EIS Officers Do

Applying to EIS

Check Eligibility

Review Salary/Benefits

Prepare Application Info

Complete Online Application

Requesting EIS Services

Attending EIS Conference

Who We Are

Media and Publications

About Our Program

Applying to EIS

Follow these steps to apply to EIS. You must be willing to commit to this 2-year, full-time fellowship (beginning in July) and relocate to your assignment.

- 1 Check Eligibility
- 2 Review Salary and Benefits
- 3 Prepare Application Information
- 4 Complete Online Application

For EIS application questions, contact us at eis@cdc.gov.

The application period for EIS Class of 2021 will be open April 8-June 12, 2020. Check your eligibility and prepare for the application process.

For questions about the EIS program, please contact us directly at eis@cdc.gov.

Class of 2021 Deadlines & Decision Dates

Dates subject to change

April 8, 2020	Application period opens at 9:00 a.m. (ET).
June 12, 2020	Application period closes at 11:59 p.m. (ET). All applications and supporting materials must be received by the deadline. Late applications will not be considered.
June-August 2020	EIS program reviews applications and selects applicants for interviews.
September 10-17, 2020	CDC interviews applicants in Atlanta (applicants pay their own travel expenses).
October 2020	EIS program notifies applicants of their status (accepted, wait-listed, or rejected).

LEARN MORE

cdc.gov/eis
cdc.gov/fellowships

